DRK home emergency system

Easy to install and quick to use: Your home emergency system

We will provide you with a base station used for telecommunication which is connected to your personal home telephone and about the same size as your phone. In addition to that you will get a small portable transmitter which you can either wear as a wristband or necklace, however you prefer. This transmitter can be used to send emergency calls 24 hours a day, 7 days a week so that in case anything happens you can receive help as quickly as possible.

Requirements

A standard telephone connection and a nearby socket. If you don't have a telephone connection there are also a couple alternatives to set up the system.

Our technicians will gladly talk to you and review your individual case to find the best way of getting your home emergency system up and running.
